Prof Chu Wan Loy

To all award and prize winners, congratulations on your outstanding achievement! We all know it's never an easy quest. It's less about luck and much, much more about the persistent hard work. For all the times of late night studies and the many sacrifices of enjoyment, your reward is finally here.

We know that it has been a struggle but in reality, in our hearts and mind, we always believed that you are destined for success. Your journey in your profession is just beginning. There will be more struggles but amidst those path of struggles, there are flowers at different stages of bloom waiting for you to pick and cherish.

I would like to thank your family and friends as I believe they have provided you with a lot of support throughout your journey. I would also like to give special thanks to the faculty who have not only served as teachers but as mentors and friends.

Once again, congratulations on your impressive performance and the world celebrates with you!

Prof Nafeeza bt Hj Mohd Ismail

Dean, School of Medicine
PhD (Pharmacology) (UKM), MBBS (UM), PMP

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate all recipients of awards and prizes at this year's Prize Presentation Ceremony. You are here today because you have distinguished yourselves with exceptional performances in your studies, research, and community service. As we recognise and celebrate your outstanding achievements today, I would also like to highlight that there have been many other celebrations of success throughout the year, of recognition bestowed upon our students by independent distinguished organisations. For example, from the School of Postgraduate Studies, Ms Tan Si Hoey was awarded a prestigious six-month internship at the Dr Li-Kun Phng's lab in the RIKEN Centre for Developmental Biology in Japan. From the School of Health Sciences Chinese Medicine programme, Ms Choo Yuet Mei was First Runner Up at the Inaugural Traditional Chinese Medicine Olympiad Competition. From the School of Dentistry, Yow Yuxiang was the winner of the Joseph Lister Award for Prevention at the 2016 International Association for Dental Research Conference in Seoul, Korea, and Chiam Lee Cheng was the winner of the Hatton Junior Award at the 2017 International Association for Dental Research Conference Asian Region in Taipei, Taiwan.

The University is incredibly proud of all our students' achievements. As we celebrate your awards and prizes today, we look forward to celebrating your contributions to society as you embark on your careers as healthcare professionals. As celebrated high achievers, we expect you to lead your professions in enhancing the quality of care for the public, and enrich the lives of the people you care for. I wish you every success for the future.
